Real-time networks: a peek at tomorrow's transmission market. (electricity transmission)
Public Utilities Fortnightly (1994), 133, n18, 29(7)
Oct 1, 1995
LANGUAGE: English RECORD TYPE: Fulltext; Abstract
WORD COUNT: 3597 LINE COUNT: 00308

...ABSTRACT: Commission's Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on utility restructuring also calls for the establishment of electronic information networks. The Continental Power Exchange is the country's first online trading exchange for electricity, operating as a real-time information network. Its frame-relay network links traders in five regions so they can complete transactions online, typically involving four parties. A transmission information electronic bulletin board is also in the works. ... and we were learning all about Real-time Information Networks (RINs--but sometimes "EINs," for "Electronic Information Networks").

With the FERC's blessing, the North American Electric Reliability Council (NERC) took...

...Washington at a hotel a few blocks from the Capitol to demonstrate their prototypes for online, real-time, computer trading systems. Many of the systems use software similar to, or formatted on, a Microsoft Windows...

...that the prospective market would be adequately examined. There was a clear need for an electronic marketplace to reach and be reached by all prospective transacting organizations without a busy signal: hence the Energy Resource Information System (ERIS).

ERIS is a real-time trading system. Companies that subscribe are connected to a central exchange system. ERIS's main characteristics...

...or sell energy, energy capacity, and transmission capacity. Postings are broadcast to all subscribers.

* Private electronic negotiation on a particular posted transaction, between the respondent party and the party that originated the ...that will perform all power-marketing functions. Integrating price-discovery methods with physical and financial trading, PowerTrader(TM) will:

* Identify Opportunities. Track and maintain customer information and market data. Store key...

...as well as pricing structure for contracts and enabling agreements.

* Manage Deals. Analyze proposed deals, match and confirm deals, evaluate credit limits, and track approvals. Dealmakers will quickly enter transactions and...

...includes integration to desktop software for analysis and reporting.

As the power marketplace matures, efficient trading markets will develop. Power Trader(TM) will provide electronic interfaces to access these services, including the Internet, as well as a central means of access and data storage for use in all...

Automated Interchange Matching System (AIMS)

CPEX(TM) (Continental Power Exchange), the nation's first electronic energy exchange to operate on competitive principles, is a RIN designed to facilitate bulk-power trading in the next-hour market. Participants ... producers (IPPs) can also participate.

CPEX(TM) uses a frame-relay communications network to link trading partners across five reliability regions in an electronic market where live trade are actually consummated on line. The average transaction is a long...

...transmission path when scheduling energy delivery between traders.

Continental is also developing a transmission information electronic bulletin board (TIEBB) for MidAmerican Energy Co. that will form the basis for its TIEBB...

...of intent to participate in the Continental Power Exchange (CPEX(TM)), the nation's only online trading exchange. According to Continental's vice president and general manager John Stojka: "TVA is a welcome addition to the CPEX(TM) trading group. In addition to being the largest CPEX(TM) participant to date, in terms of...

...undoubtedly contribute to the exchange's growth in the Eastern interconnection." TVA may begin live trading as early as October.

Larry Taylor, manager of electric system operations at TVA, says that

...agreement is intended to complement TVA's participation in the development of the Automated Interchange Matching System (AIMS): "CPEX(TM) gives TVA another trading tool in an increasingly competitive bulk-power marketplace."
